

$24 Harvest Help

If you can save the expense of three teams, three men, and three wagons, one day when you thresh your grain you will save $24.00.

$6.00 a day for man, wagon and team, and $2.00 a day for board and feed.

The Lomoco Granary will save you $24.00 the first day you use it in expense alone.

There will be no grain sacks, cars scarce, neighbors busy and elevators full.

What will you do with your grain. The government will pay you from $2.00 to $2.25 a bushel for your wheat when they can handle it, but it going to be up to you to take care of it until you can get help to haul it, and the railroads can furnish cars to transport it to the mills.

We had the Lomoco Granary designed so you could build it yourself. It is planned so the material will cut without waste. We will give you the length of every board.

We will furnish you free plans and specifications so you can't go wrong.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW OF GRANARY
CAPACITY 1000 BUSHEL

The material for a 500 bushel Lomoco Granary will cost you, including nails and paint..... $58

The material for a 1000 bushel Lomoco Granary, including hardware and paint will cost you..... $85

The Lomoco Granaries are made of No. 1 Dimension, boxed and floored with No. 1 tongued and grooved lumber. Sheeted and roofed with either shingles or heavy roofing paper.

The sills, studding and plates are 2x6 No. 1 Yellow Pine, the corner post 4x6 No. 1 Yellow Pine. Rafters 2x4 No. 1 Yellow Pine. Siding and flooring No. 1 Yellow Pine Flooring or ship lap, whichever you prefer.

There never will be a time when you will need a granary as much as you will need it this season. Don't put it off. Tell us the size or capacity you will need. Don't wait another week. Harvest is almost here. Corn is to plow and help scarce.

Plan to save every bushel of your grain. It never meant so much to you or your country.

In Memoriam.

Lucien Green died at his home in Hudson township Friday, May 17, 1918, and his body was buried in the Myers cemetery on Sunday, May 19th. He was in his 75th year. He was born and reared to manhood in Ohio. At the age of 19 he enlisted in the 129th Ohio volunteer infantry and became a veteran in the service of his country. He married Miss Polly Smith, of Athens county, Ohio, in 1868. She and one son survive him.

Lucien Green, with his family, came to Bates county in 1874. They have resided here continuously since. It is fitting, when a good man has finished his course and departed this life, that some mention of his deeds and character should be made; and in this instance it is a real pleasure to the writer to pay a modest tribute to his real worth as man and citizen. For more than thirty years he had been a frequent contributor to the Bates County Record, and we are told by one of his intimate friends that he never read other papers after the Record ceased to reach his home and cheer his life. We recall the notes of courage and appreciation which came with his "items" during the last three years. He did what he could to keep the good old Record on its feet and to strengthen and encourage its editor. He was a brave, faithful, hopeful friend. Earnest and sincere in all things, patriotic and devoted to the welfare of his country, county and state, he never lost hope, nor seemed cast down in gloom. This was most remarkable to those who knew his physical condition for many years in the past;—indeed he came out of the service of his country with a broken constitution; and for nearly fifty years he suffered silently and heroically. It looked as if Pandora had opened her box to afflict him. But he never surrendered; he fought his afflictions bravely and successfully to a good old age—then he died; the life cycle had been told. In the midst of his afflictions and sufferings he refused to have his friends and neighbors drop in to see him; and in his humble home he was cheery and bright and interesting always. He was a man of wonderful good sense, kept himself well informed, and had been less sorely afflicted, during the long years, his impression upon a much wider circle would now be evident; but as it was, within the sphere of his acquaintance, no man departing has left loftier, tenderer, more cheering memory than he. And who can say his was not a successful life? Who can measure the length and breadth, height and depth of his influence in the hearts and lives of those who knew him here? Without worldly wealth he was rich in all that goes to make a real man. His bodily affliction could not deny him intellectual enjoyment. The inspiring power of hope implanted in the human mind is often the only thing that makes life tolerable; and in the economy of life it seems to be the last sentiment to perish utterly; for death comes close on failing hope. This is a benign provision and sustains the suffering until sensation ceases to afflict, or conscious pain to distress the passing soul.

Lucien Green is at rest. Those who knew him in this life are better for having known him; and may we all cherish the hope of meeting him again in the land of somewhere, some time—where time is not reckoned, and where partings and pain will be no more.

Senator Baldwin Entertains C. C. C.

The hospitable home of Senator and Mrs. Baldwin was aglow with welcoming lights on Wednesday night, May 15, it being the birthday anniversary of the Senator, who for the third time was entertaining the Country Culture Club upon his anniversary, says the Appleton City Journal.

With pleasant anticipations the Club members and families and many invited guests repaired to his home, where after being cordially greeted by Senator and Mrs. Baldwin and daughters were made to feel that the home was theirs for the evening and soon the tide of conversation and happy laughter was running high.

Bowls of columbine and snap dragon gave a spicy May-time fragrance to the air, while the glorious red poppy gave a regal splendor to the decorations. The Hudson orchestra discoursed lively music. Mrs. Watkins sang in her usual sympathetic manner, "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and "Laddie in Khaki,"—after which the C. C. Club presented Senator Baldwin with a Brass Custer as a slight token of their respect and honor. Mrs. H. T. Pratt, president of the Club, made the presentation, to which the Senator responded in his usual characteristic hearty manner.
